Kobelco about Gouweleeuw

'We regularly have cranes sprayed by Gouweleeuw. As a crane manufacturer, we stand for the delivery of top quality cranes. By choosing a painter like Gouweleeuw we can guarantee our top quality and we also opt for certainty. Appointments are met promptly.'

When spraying the 600-ton Kobelco SL6000J, it was extremely important to us and our customer that the entire process would run perfectly, as the crane had to be used for projects in Russia as quickly as possible.

In addition, the machine had to be extra well preserved against the extreme climatic conditions by the sea in the Arctic working area. By applying a special epoxy paint on the machine and boom parts, the crane will be well and long-term protected against these extreme working conditions. The crane was delivered on time and we are very satisfied with the end result!'

We already sprayed more than 3000 cranes for customers in recent years, but this is by far one of the most special orders! The design of this crane was made by Halmá BMDP and was further developed by Jutta Schön-Winterstein (Grafik-Design-Werbung Jutta Schön-Winterstein) by order of Tadano Faun. It was our honour to do the paint job. The boom required special attention in connection with the spraying of the stripes. For the sheet metal, separate spray molds were used to obtain the desired result. This design makes the crane easily recognizable and gives it a strong appearance!

Transport service

If desired, we can take care of transport of the crane. We arrange international transport as well as transport from the port for you. For example, for the Allelys Group (England) we collected the crane from the harbour and upon delivery we put it back on the ferry to England. Would you like to know more about our transport service? Please contact us to discuss the options.
